

Product Development Manager | Remote

Cambridge Audio is seeking an experienced Product Development Manager to add increased capacity to our existing high energy headphone development team. This is an exciting opportunity to be part of a strategically important and fast-growing division within the business, delivering award-winning products and increasingly higher levels of delight to our customers.

We seek someone driven and self-motivated with experience of dealing with Asian OEMs and ODMs in the consumer electronics space, ideally in headphones or earphones. You will be responsible for defining product briefs, cascading them into attribute targets and ensuring our products meets them. You will work with a broad range of stakeholders across the business, up to and including the CEO, to ensure that future Cambridge Audio headphones successfully address market/user needs, achieve commercial success, and win our brand even more fans.

To be successful in this role, you will be an accomplished team player who can also work autonomously, displaying great initiative whilst working simultaneously on multiple challenging projects. You will need to be an analytical problem solver used to driving data-based decision making and using a range of communication strategies to deliver success. You will be a quick worker, but also one who delivers great attention to detail. You will also be someone who never stops learning and improving. This is a demanding role requiring complete commitment, including outside normal office hours, due to us collaborating across Asia, USA and Europe.

Requirements:

- Expert understanding of and experience in product development, approval processes and project management processes.
- Excellent attention to detail.
- Significant experience of developing audio products, working with OEMs and ODMs to deliver them to market.
- Solid understanding of product specification and performance standards for connected products.
- Knowledge of and a fanatical passion for delivering high-performance products and best-in-class customer satisfaction.
- Attitude and cultural fit are also all-important.

Qualifications:

- Relevant experience, aptitude and attitude are more important to us than qualifications.
- That said, an engineering or science undergraduate degree, with a post-graduate business qualification would be desirable.
